NERVE MAKES BOB JONES, 14, SENSATION OF GOLF SEASON!

(By HAROLD JOHNSON.)
They all look alike to Bobby Jones, aged 14!
Beaten by Bob Gardner, 1915 national amateur golf champion in the fourth day's play of the recent title tournament at the Marion Cricket club, Philadelphia, 4 and 3 after leading on the morning round, 1 up, this prodigy of the links, a Dixie product, is the most sensational figure now playing the ancient Scottish game.
With his rare nerve and the skill of a veteran Bobby recalls memories of Francis Ouimet at the time he beat Vardon and Ray, but in addition the southern youth has other unusual qualities.

Jones came north for the first time to compete in the titular event and, though regarded with keen interest from the start, really established himself as a contender by downing Eben Byers, a former national title holder and Franklin Dyer, one of the foremost Jersey stars.

The new streak was born in Atlanta and is the son of one of the most prominent lawyers in the south. His grandfather, C. T. Jones, is president of the Georgia Central railroad and reputed to be the wealthiest man in Georgia. The boy's home is just across the street from the East Lake Golf club, the finest course the other side of the Mason and Dixon line.

The elder Jones, an old time football star, is fond of golf and Bobby, at the age of five, was trailing his father over the East Lake links. The youth from the start showed a natural aptitude for the game. He was put in charge of Steward Marden who developed the boy's game. The latter won the Georgia state title this year. In the finals he ripped off 17 holes in 64 strokes.

In another championship at Birmingham he scored a 70 and 69 in the final round. At Knoxville, for still another title, Bobby played the finals in a heavy rainstorm, but still got a 77.

Jones is a husky lad who looks considerably older than 14. His golf is far from being freaky. There are few in the game who can outdrive him. His iron shots are splendid, especially recoveries from trouble. On the green Jones wastes but few puts.

Unlike most golfers Bobby doesn't get unnerved after making a poor shot. Between strokes he likes to twist a club in his hand like the habit of swinging a cane.

More to the Purpose.

"Why in the world did you endorse a check for that fellow, when you didn't know who he was?" "He hypnotized me with questions from Shakespeare." "Well, the next time a chap comes along with a bogus check ask him to quote something from Dun and Bradstreet."

Served Him Right.

"I hear you've been fishing for several days." "No," replied the exact individual. "I was fishing for fish and devoted several days to the alleged sport without getting a bite."

When the Worm Turned.

Ella held the undesirable position of younger sister, and both her older sister and brother did considerable "bossing." One day she rebelled. "Mary, you boss me just like you was my mamma, and Will fusses like he was my papa," she blubbered.

Perfect Philosophy.

And as for me, let what will come, I can receive no damage from it, unless I think it a calamity; and it is in my power to think it none, if I so decide.—Marcus Aurelius.

E. D. K.'s Column

A Chicago vegetarian engaged a German cook not long ago. His wife liked the appearance of the applicant; her references were good and wages she demanded not exorbitant.
"I'd like to have you come," said the lady of the house, "but perhaps you won't like to live with us. We are vegetarians and never have any meat in the house. Would you be satisfied with a vegetable diet?"
The fraulein scratched her head. "Vell," she said, dubiously, "iss beer a vegetable?"

THE BOARD OF STRATEGY IS THE KIND YOU GET AT A POOR BOARDING HOUSE.

One of Those Queer Fellows.
The window front blew in and cut the day clerk on the forehead and one of the Sisseton ball players by the name of Kelly was severely cut from his foot to his elbow on his left arm.—The Oak (S. D.) Times.

Neutral Question.
High—There's Fred Scads over there. He made a million in the street last year.
Low—Honestly?
High—I don't know, but he made it.

"Look here!" sternly said Squire Peavy, "this is about the seventh time you have been up before me in a year."
"Yassah," replied Brother Hooker. "I'm proud to say 'tis cawdin' to my recollection. I never was one o' dese fluttry pussons dat's hear today and some's else tomorrow; when I like a man I gives him all muh business. Yassah, when a gentleman wins muh 'steem I b'lieves in standin' by him."

POPULAR WATERING PLACE THE ICE COOLER.

Clever Child.
The little five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Field accidentally stepped her right foot on the spout of a sewing machine oil can. The chickenpox broke out next morning on the little girl Nadine. The oil can may be seen at this office.—The Rule (Neb.) Alliance-Press.

Hopeful.
New Parson—Well, I'm glad to hear you come to church twice every Sunday.
Tommy—Yes, I'm not old enough to stay away yet.

Tender Hearts and Cabbages.
Mrs. Allison has our sympathy in the loss of her cabbage patch caused by water.—The Blytheville (Ark.) Courier.

Dora—And so you quarreled?
Lillie—Yes, and I returned all his presents, and what you think he did?
Dora—Something horrid. I'm sure.

Lillie—He sent me half a dozen boxes of those powder, with a note, explaining that he thought he had taken as much as that horse on his coat since he first met me.

SANDBAGGED AND ROBBED.
WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 14.—H. L. Dayton, a well-known business man of Lorain, Ohio, was held up by high-waymen last night at the Anacostia bridge on the north end of Wheeling Island and robbed of $100. He was sandbagged and left in the same condition. Dayton was found at daylight. This is the fourth holding reported since last Saturday.

Flash Light.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

WHEN you went to school the teacher used to hold an object before the class and ask that it be identified.

If it chanced to be a hat, it was "a hat"—"a black hat"—etc.

Nowadays still greater distinctions are being taught and the children bring them home to show us grown-ups how little we know.

We are profiting by the wisdom of "old heads on young shoulders" and so we are carrying the distinctions to natural conclusions.

When we go to a store we ask for what we want and designate it by name.

You can and should do likewise—when you come in to buy your new Fall hat you need only say, "I want a hat—a Mallory hat." We'll attend to the rest. You'll be perfectly satisfied and so will we.

Today is the last day for Straws

HARTLEY'S

The Hartley Men's Clothing Store Is Ready for a New Season

Fine new suits, new overcoats, new hats, new shoes, new shirts, new accessories of every sort—it is the start of the Fall Season.

Where Sir?

Where will you be when the live men of 1916 start in their Fall procession?

Where will you be with your last season's clothing when the frost is in the air?

Where will you be when the busy workers and doers of the world, out about their daily business and pleasures, are talking about "last Summer"?

Where will you be then with last Summer's baggy suit?

The new season's review is starting right now—and some men will be at the head of it and some will be behind.

Some in step with live, some clear out of the reckoning.

Dear Sir—Your Old Straw Hat

may be useful to feed the cow, but will be no use to you after Friday, September 15.

New Felt and Derby Hats Are Ready Here. —First Floor

Ready With Men's Fine New Fall Shirts and Neckties

The man who dresses correctly wears the garments of the new season as soon as they arrive.

He and his friends are these days buying new Fall Shirts of Madras, Percale and Mercerized cotton in pleated and plain negligee styles, with either starched or soft cuffs. Prices, $1, $1.50 and $2.00.

There is a wonderful assortment of Autumn Neckwear ready in beautiful figures and stripes as well as plain colors, at 50c and $1.00. —First Floor—

There is a pride in this store to have the best-dressed customers in the town.

We are asking these customers to buy their new clothing now, so that no Hartley-dressed man shall ever be in the rear rank of anything.

We brought in our new Fall clothing and made our displays earlier and larger than any other store. The fashions are, as always, "a little ahead of the next."

Every Hartley customer can get his new Fall Suit and Overcoat now.

Suits, $13.00 to $25; Overcoats, $15 to $30 —Men's Store, First Floor—

School or no School, Boys Must Have New Clothes

Their new Fall Suits and Overcoats are splendidly ready and they are as good or better than ever.

Good, strong durable Norfolk Suits, beautiful in colors and weaves, pinch back models, chiefly, $4 to $12.50; sizes 6 to 18 years.

Important New Fashions in New Footwear

The new Shoes for men are a trifle shorter in the vamps, and toes are somewhat narrower than they have been. Flat foreparts and low, broad heels continue in vogue. Many styles are relieved by perforations and some have wing tips. Colors are black, tan and fahogany brown. Prices $4.00 to $7.00. —First Floor

Luggage

For young people going away to college and for others who wish good, dependable luggage, we are ready with fine Steamer Trunks, Wardrobe Trunks and Dress Trunks at prices ranging in general from $5.00 to $27.50. —First Floor

Fall Fashions

One of the most recent significant points discussed in connection with your Fall suit is the tendency of the lapels to roll high.

Neckwear is being knotted a bit tighter and smaller. The collar opening is a bit narrower and the waistcoat opening is quite moderate. These style touches travel in harmony with the high rolling lapels.

The Finchley model is one of the styles in which the high waistline effect has been developed with grace and elegance.

A double-breasted idea, the Admiral model, which has stepped into a wide vogue constantly gains favor with engaging dressers.

An interesting Norfolk style, the Hunter model, and its companion style, the Idler, nicely represent the versatility of our tailors at Fashion Park. These ingeniously conceived styles will be among the first worn. Great activity in the Norfolk field has resulted in the Natti model being developed with inverted side pleats in the back. A novel waistcoat, having a well-turned collar and a buttoned Norfolk belt effect adds even more sparkle to this bright style.

Overcoats, whether single or double-breasted, seem to have taken unto themselves a belt. It may be loose as in the Holbrook model or tight as in the Channel model just as you prefer.

Dress overcoats of the Channel type are quite wistly and otherwise tread the exact style lines specified by the Fashion Park designer.

Rough garments of the Ulster crowd are apparently thoroughly English for the lines look comfortable and the fabrics have the characteristics usually seen in English weaves. Fashion Park efficiency methods have made these overcoats doubly desirable.

Quarter-lined and eighth-lined is the general rule in all overgarments whether it be the Channel, a semi-formal mode or the Carlton-Spatter, the most astonishing little Mist-proof covering that a carefully dressed man ever wore when the Weather Man supplied either rain or shine.

Last Spring, like a shot from a clear sky, the Norbert struck Fifth Avenue. Instantly every other light weight style surrendered its honors. Some said it was the all-around belt; others the throw-over collar and still others the wellshaped shoulders that gave this Fashion Park idea its stellar qualities. But, you can still best by paying us a visit.
